

Fifth IOCE Conference
Paris, France

International Organization on Computer
Evidence

International Conferences on Computer Evidence

- May, 1993 Quantico, Virginia, USA
- April, 1995 Baltimore, Maryland, USA
- February, 1996 Melbourne, Victoria, Australia
- November, 1997 The Hague, Netherlands
- October, 1999 London, United Kingdom

4th International Conference on Computer Evidence

November, 1997 The Hague, Netherlands

Why IOCE?

- “The purpose of this Organization shall be to provide an international forum for law enforcement agencies to exchange information concerning computer investigation and computer forensic issues.”

The objectives of IOCE:

- Identify and discuss issues of common interest;
- Facilitate the international dissemination of information;
- Develop recommendations for consideration by the member agencies.

IOCE Membership

- Accredited government agencies which conduct computer forensic investigations
- Participation by members of above agencies
- Representation by agency
- Meetings held in connection with International Conferences on Computer Evidence

IOCE Executive Board

- Mark M. Pollitt,
Chairman
- Gerben Wierda, Vice-
Chairman
- Les Russell, Secretary
- Laurie Norton,
Member
- Chris Buttner,
Member

Evolution

- 1993 - good idea to get together and talk
- 1997 - need to focus on standards
- 1999 - the first product
- 2000 - IOCE acts as a exchange point

Current Activities

- Develop standards in connection with computer evidence
- Develop communications services between member agencies
- Hold conferences to exchange information and develop working relationships

International Standards

- 4th International Conference
- P-8/G-8 meetings
- Regional working groups
- INTERPOL Oct. '98
- INTERPOL Oct. '01

Communications

- RCMP Technical Bulletin
- Listserver
- Website - www.ioce.org

Now the real work begins

- Continue the work already begun
- Put it on paper...
- Try to help coordinate the many bodies
- Keep the momentum going